International Declaration of Currency

Department of Treasury
January 25, 2026

The American currencies issued by the American Government are:

1. the gold American Federation Dollar (AFD) issued by our chartered Global Family Banks

2. the all-silver United States dollars and coinage still in circulation.

3. the American Heritage Dollar(AHD) representing prepaid credit owed to the Bearer for goods and services already delivered.

These currencies are being distributed now for the use of living people and belong to living people.

If you are breathing and reading this, these distributions apply to you, not just Americans.

The Federal Reserve Notes which were debt notes are being replaced by American Heritage Dollars, which are credit notes.

National Debts are being erased. Usury charged on National Debts are hereby declared Odious Debt: that is, debt created by some means of fraud that the victims are not aware of and do not benefit from.

The corporations responsible for long-standing fraud against living people are being dissolved, which is causing chaos and misunderstandings.

If you are breathing and reading this, no matter who you are, or what continent you live on, this is good news.

Take notice of our official currencies as listed above.

Any other form of currency using the names "United States" or "United States of America" should be understood to be private bank scrip or military scrips which are under collection and exchangeable for American Heritage Dollars.

American Heritage Dollars are prepaid credit instruments owed to the living people and their ancestors, who already paid out the actual goods and services backing this currency, but who were not credited until now.
