

International Public Declaration: The Answer to Richard Vobes and the Mystery Questioner

International Public Notice

People worldwide are asking this question now — who gave THEM permission to do all this to us and our property assets?

The Narrative.....

The Creator created this planet and us and the stars in the sky; and, then, a middle man called Pope Boniface VIII showed up and claimed to be the Estate Manager — not the Estate Manager for the Creator, but the Estate Manager for the Creator's only Son, Jesus. This happened in 1302.

There's your first Middleman position. Pope Boniface VIII created the Unam Sanctam (means "One Holy Church") Trust. He claimed, among other things, that subjection to Papal Authority was necessary for salvation, and declared papal spiritual authority superior to all secular powers — and this also therefore made him and his Successors in Office the Trustee and Judge of the entire world until Jesus returns again.

According to them.

A cynic might observe that this claim over all worldly authority and the attendant latching upon of all aspects of the Earthly estate, was self-interested in the extreme. Being the "cornerstone" of a religious movement does not actually translate into being the owner of all Natural Resources and property interests worldwide.

That isn't what Jesus said, as recorded in the Gospel record.

Current commentaries try to present this as something that was only important in the Middle Ages and that the Church no longer claims, nor wields secular power over governments — other than the Vatican City State, that is.

But the Roman Curia does. The UN Corporation does. The Universal Postal Union does....

Fortunately, or unfortunately, the Church has never relinquished the claim or the Trust, and it continues to play a huge role in secular and governmental affairs through veiled and not-so-veiled ownership interests, treaties with dependent monarchies, and administration of municipal government functions worldwide.

When, in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the Roman Curia began the proliferation and use of corporations as “legal fiction” business models, it created many concerns about lack of accountability and traditional mechanisms of enforcement against entities that are essentially “formless” and “insubstantial”.

It was widely recognized that corporations are fictional and that logos and trademarks are insufficient to identify them and their products and liabilities. Lack of enforcement mechanisms to impose reasonable restraints on corporations led to the adoption of authorities and conventions that made the Creators of these entities responsible for them — the Roman Curia and the Monarchies “registering” corporations.

The Roman Curia specifically became responsible for the administration of corporations in the jurisdiction of the air that was defined by the administrative structure of the Unam Sanctam Trust and the Monarchs vouchsafed and defined by the Pope became responsible for the operations of corporations on land and sea — with the Pope, of course, being the final owner, arbiter, and judge ultimately responsible for the existence and function of corporations under Ecclesiastical Law.

Fast forward.....

The Pope chose two of his Monarchs, the King of Spain and the King of England, to be responsible for the Trust Administration on the Land and on the Sea, respectively.

The Spanish King held responsibility for land and land assets, basically all physical assets of the land, including gold and silver, including all records related to physical property assets.

The English King held responsibility for all sea assets, including all registrations of property assets at sea.

In the twentieth century, the Spanish Monarchy failed as a result of war and debt; this then meant that the Trust responsibilities devolved upon the English King, who began administering everything “as if” it was legitimately in the jurisdiction of the sea.

This “pretense on top of a fiction” is what has caused all the trouble that we are now seeing — the misapplication of sea law to living people, who have been treated as “salvaged” property, together with their land, gold, silver, and other substantive assets, which have all been rolled into “public trusts” and mis-administered by the Bar Associations for profit.

The most likely motivation for this (and the entire Spanish Civil War) is that the Pope (acting as Roman Pontiff) had a 60:40 profit sharing agreement with the British Monarch, and didn’t have such an agreement with the Spanish King.

All Bar Attorneys are by definition Foreign Agents, because they have accepted an office in a foreign government; they are all Esquires serving the British Crown, and British Subjects by definition. This fact has been obscured, but is nonetheless true.

The Bar Associations run the courts, and the courts have been weaponized to enforce the imposition of sea jurisdiction law on every living thing, including those standing on land and soil. This has been imposed using patently False Legal Presumptions and constructive fraud based on impersonating living people as “persons” — that is, various kinds of franchise corporations.

The first impersonation occurs when babies are “registered” as persons — not people — and as British Subjects; and, they are then trafficked into the jurisdiction of the sea using Birth Certificates as clearinghouse certificates.

This is a commercial fraud and misrepresentation based on non-disclosure to the parents who sign the contracts underlying this action, and resulting in undisclosed unconscionable foreign citizenship obligations for the babies.

It also results in the British Crown Corporation illegally and immorally copyrighting the Given Name of the babies, so as to control all assets attached to that name.

This is called “latching” and it is illegal, yet an entire court system has been created to enforce and profit from this impersonation fraud and barratry practiced against the victims of this fraud and racketeering.

The guilty parties? The Popes acting in the office of Roman Pontiff and the British Monarchs, are the Principals responsible. The members of the Bar Associations worldwide are the enforcers and are individually and personally liable for their actions.

So, that is how the False Claim of authority was set up and established. It happened so long ago that people forgot how all this “stuff” got set up and who was responsible for it, but this is how THEY gave themselves permission to control, manage, and steal your identity and your assets, tax you for their “services”, and they applied this impersonation process and identity theft to entire countries, as well.

For an example of a much more widespread phenomenon— the actual name of this country is: The United States.

They substituted their British Crown Corporation franchise doing business as “the United States” — Incorporated, a commercial corporation vendor of “essential government services”, and their Roman Municipal corporation dba “the UNITED STATES” — Incorporated, also a government services vendor — and used these incorporated entities to impersonate our country and our American Government.

Just like any common credit card hacker, they used this stolen identity and impersonation scheme to access the credit of the actual people and actual countries they victimized, and the banks, especially the central banks, colluded and allowed this.

Wink, wink.

This massive identity theft and credit fraud operation both at the level of individual people and even at a national level, is the answer to the question posed. Nobody gave THEM any permission or authority to do what they have done.

They simply colluded as a criminal conspiracy against the interests of the living people and actual countries to unjustly enrich themselves and continue a form of colonialism we have dubbed “Corporate Feudalism”.

They insinuated themselves as Middlemen and Estate Managers over a long period of time, people born into this system gradually accepted it (under threat of Hell) and there you are, Bob’s Uncle.

The Popes cut a deal with the British Monarchs to split the pot 60:40 during the reign of King Henry VIII, when they split the ownership interest in Catholics and Protestants being baptized in Britain.

Naturally, the British Monarch as the minority partner, was obliged to do the dirty work and enforcement related to this arrangement. And to keep the crooks honest, the Pontiffs employed the Pope’s Tax Collectors, the members of the Bar Associations, to administer and control their “mutually beneficial compact”.

It was all designed to control and rob the living people of this planet. It’s a crime. Literally. They have no legitimate authority for any of this.

Not in the Gospels. Not in the Declarations, Laws and Customs. Not in the Constitutions. Not under National Law. Not under International Law. Not under Ecclesiastical Law. And not under Natural Law, either.

These two short videos (above) explain in a limited and modern context the fight between national sovereignty and British Empire/Roman Curia monopoly.

The Enemy has been identified as the British Empire, and behind the British Empire as the majority owner in this enterprise, the Roman Curia.

And it all comes pedal to the metal in the form of Bar Associations and foreign courts run by Bar Associations under color of law and False Legal Pretenses promoting the existence of foreign public trusts and ownership interests in these foreign public trusts named after living (and dead) Americans, Australians, Canadians, Germans, French....
