

Operation Wet Back 3.0

International Public Notice

The United States of America —
Federation of States

We have a bad relationship with Mexico and it's for a reason.

We treat Mexicans badly.

When we need them to come here to fill our factories, sew our shoes, fix our cars, plow our fields, harvest our crops — they always come. They always work hard.

And then, when we don't need them anymore, we send Jackboots to round them up like cattle and send them back to Mexico, often with just the shirts on their backs, unable to say good-bye or reassure loved ones, unable to even pack a few momentos and favorite belongings they have earned during their stay in this country.

It's not that the American people, for the most part, are anti-Hispanic. It's a matter of government convenience and political expediency,

After World War I, the Doughboys came home and the economy wasn't expanding rapidly enough for them all to get jobs, so DC stepped in and sent General Black Jack Pershing on a round-up and deportation mission infamously called, "Operation Wet Back".

After World War II, the same thing happened. It wasn't as rough, it wasn't such a big news item. There were no insulting names attached to it, but it happened. Entire parishes were virtually emptied in Louisiana alone, whole families that came and helped keep the oil industry pumping during the war were sent home to Mexico without as much as a thank you. Same story for thousands of Mexicans who worked in munitions and defense manufacturing facilities.

There was no notice given, no time to pack bags, say good-bye, make arrangements for the kids to leave school, plan for transportation, none of that. They were just pulled off the streets and factory lines and deported "as is".

The same thing is happening right now.

The truth is that although America hasn't been as hard hit as say, Britain, which has been in population collapse since the Crimean War, we have been "depopulated", too. We have needed the extra workers, especially since our population is aging fast and retiring out of the workforce.

That and a nasty accounting scheme to count the new immigrants as "Americans" and increase their value as livestock, plus the dumb idea the Dems had that all the immigrants would vote Democrat, is why the Biden Administration was so lax about immigration.

Now the ax has fallen and the UNITED STATES bankruptcy is grinding to a final settlement, the Trump Administration has to lay off approximately five million Federal workers, many of them tenured, many of them nearing retirement. And if you are Donald Trump, you can't have a bunch of immigrants competing with all these displaced Federal employees for jobs.

The immigrants have to go back to Mexico or Honduras or wherever they came from and right now, Bubba. At least a dollop over the number of displaced Federal workers has to go. That's why ICE has "quotas" to meet. Five million immigrants -at least- have to be gone yesterday.

So you have ICE Agents randomly slamming Hispanics to the ground in places like Los Angeles — people who were born here and lived here all their lives. You have whole city blocks in Chicago terrified as ICE comes in commando style, guns drawn, no probable cause, no parley with the homeowners, no questions about who lives here and can we please see your ID?

Probably worst of all, we have ICE harassing homeless Hispanic vets, many wounded and permanently maimed in USA, Inc. wars for profit, and these men are holding up their Medical cards and Driver Licenses and whatever they've got to no avail. They don't even know anyone in Mexico, their families have lived here so long. They did what they thought was right. They served this country. They are picked up like sacks of wheat, dumped into trucks, and deported — back to where?

They have no memories of Mexico, no family to greet them there, but they are shoved across the border and left in the middle of nowhere wondering what happened, why, and how to get home again.

This happens over and over again between this country and Mexico and it's always about self-service, what we need when we need it. There is never any respect or care or decency shown to the Hispanic people, and especially the Mexicans who live next door, when it comes to jobs or living space or just the opportunity to be here and be at peace.

It's shameful, and it's a problem that needs to be solved, but somehow the convenience of having Mexico's workforce next door never registers with the dumbed-down politicians in DC as something valuable. Until THEY need extra workers. Oh, then, it's all smiles and welcomes.

Apparently, they can't read demographic reports any better than they can read articles about chemical dumping in the atmosphere, or skyrocketing cancer rates following in the wake of another one of their brilliant Operations that went Warpspeed when it should have gone Operation No Go.

To all the innocent people who came here in good faith, to try to find a new life, or rejoin family living in The United States, we are sorry about all of this. Biden used you as pawns. Trump is using you as pawns. We know. These politicians use everybody this way. They call us "livestock" behind our backs and claim to own us and take out life insurance policies on us, so they make money when we die.

There will be better days. Better days here, better days in Mexico, better days in Honduras, too. There's a New Earth coming, where we all finally realize that we are "the" value, and stop treating each other like dirt and stop chasing after pieces of paper that represent somebody else's debt to us.

That day is coming, indeed, it's almost here. Come join us.
