

Regarding Mr. Trump

International Public Notice

December 6, 2025

The United States of America —
Federation of States

Nobody knows the troubles that Mr. Trump faces as he tries to honor and deliver upon his actual service contract and deal with massive criminal activity both inside and outside what appear to be “government” functions, plus a radical bankruptcy and new era for Municipal Government, all at the same time.

And everyone, it seems, is blaming Trump as if he were to blame for any of these circumstances, when in truth, this whole panoramic Mess has been developing — at least in some parts — for 160 years.

Probably 95% of what President Trump has to deal with is not his fault, and we mean that actually and factually.

How he deals with it, is on him, but the situation would have hit anyone in his office at this time.

It’s not exactly our place to give him advice in the normal course of his operations, but we do from time to time address him in the same way a General Contractor might speak to a Subcontractor.

For example, we certainly don’t condone Israel’s actions in Gaza, and have let that be known.

Ditto the situation in Venezuela. It’s true that Venezuela has become increasingly a hot spot for criminal gang activity, drug cartel smuggling, and what has become known as “narco-terrorism” -all of which are known crimes. So we’ve made it clear we want those criminal activities handled as crimes, not by committing acts of war against the Maduro Government. We’ve also let our wishes regarding resource development be known.

We (and most of the rest of the world) have been dealing with European Colonialism for the better part of 300 years. First, on land, then in the air, and now on the sea; we are in the process of finally putting an end to Colonialism in all three jurisdictions.

Americans are not generally aware of this fact, but once Lincoln opened the door for them, foreign commercial interests began using us as Mercenaries to promote old Colonialist agendas.

Not only were we being secretly commandeered by Colonialist interests ourselves and used as if we were still Colonies of the British Empire, our resources and manpower were being misdirected to inflict colonialism on other countries.

The “War” in Vietnam, which was actually a commercial Mercenary Conflict, started with French Colonialist interests trying to keep control of Vietnamese rubber plantations and other natural resources that they were plundering. When the French couldn’t get their way, they hired us to enforce their hegemony in Vietnam for them.

They used us as cheap, unknowing Mercenaries, and their British shareholders in the British Territorial U.S. Congress readily agreed and passed legislation imposing the Draft and sending our American children into a jungle meat grinder to protect French Colonialists and make money for British-American Defense Contractors, who make their money off of war.

Who, for example, made a fortune from mining Haiphong Harbor?

First Lady, Ladybird Johnson, wife of LBJ, who was a Democrat.

That's right. When it comes to war-profiteering, both political parties have dogs in the fight and both have been guilty as sin.

According to recent estimates, between 970,000 and 3 million Vietnamese were killed, 275,000-310,000 Cambodians, 20,000-62,000 Laotians, and 58,220 US service members died, with an additional 75,000 severely disabled. Out of the total survivors, 2.5 million veterans, most suffered long lasting psychological and emotional trauma.

This is what happens when the actual American Government isn't in Session, and the commercial subcontractors just do what they please, take what they want and sweep the rest under the rug.

This is also what happens when the values of the living people are sidelined or left unspoken —and the “values” of commercial corporations take center stage.

We're not speaking up to pick on Trump. We are doing it because it's literally our duty.

We hear through back-channels that Mr. Trump is offended because he feels we are interfering with his exercise of powers he legitimately earned by virtue of being elected; we don't deny the importance of his office or talent for business.

Long ago, we observed to him that he is at least theoretically able to “come home” and work for the Federation of States instead of continuing to function as a U.S. Citizen and British Territorial Subject. We were upfront with him about the Federal Republic issues and attempted to teach him about the land and soil jurisdiction issues, to no avail.

To us, it's just business. It's his choice who he works for. We'd say the same things to a Democrat or Independent President. It's not personal. It's not even a criticism of a man already burdened down with so much that is coming home to roost on his watch.

We do understand the complex morass of corruption that Trump is trying to deal with, and we encourage everyone else to understand that, too. If you've been praying for Donald Trump's health and heart and sanity, continue to do so.

We're not his enemies. We're his employers.
