

The Take Down Necessary

International Public Notice

February 24, 2026

The United States of America —
Federation of States

We recently noted how completely silly it is for people to imagine that a piece of paper or a gold coin could ever be worth an hour of their time on Earth.

There are lots of things like that, once you begin to observe.

For example, what authority could your own public employees have that is enabling them to harass you and enslave you?

Central Banks are another such topic once you stop and think about it.

The argument has always been that a central bank system given control of commodity markets (money is a commodity, too) is better able to manage the flow and use of commodities to maximize stability and profitability.

These banks, central banks, have never provided stability or profitability.

They have instead provided a means to coerce, punish, force, obstruct, and unjustly profit some countries and some people at the expense of all the others, promoted gargantuan legalized monopolies — with all the evils and abuses of monopolies attached, and created some of the most infamous economic meltdowns in human history.

As for profit, 1% live in mindless, limitless luxury, while the rest are increasingly enslaved and subjected to peonage and enslavement to pay for it.

So if central banks don't provide any of the benefits promised — meaning that economies are less stable and less profitable for the overall population with central banks versus without them — once again, what are we thinking?

We should be getting rid of the central banks and chucking them in the dustbin of history without adieu. With no apologies at all.

What do you do, when you hire someone to do one thing, and they do the exact opposite?

When you discover that: (1) a system isn't producing the sought for benefits, and (2) is instead producing unwanted evils, it's time to get out your Big Eraser, and start over.

So we are starting over with the realization that money must be limited to the realm of things and never allowed to be “equivalenced” to anything living — no price on us, our bodies, our time, our labor.

Furthermore, as a corollary, our living flesh and labor cannot be securitized as collateral backing debts; such a system results in peonage and/or enslavement, both of which have been outlawed worldwide since 1926.

We are starting over with the second realization that central bank planning always plans to benefit a few at the expense of the many.

This is because central banks, by definition, are allowed to control and monopolize everything, and once they do, the temptation to use this coercive power in abusive, self-interested ways becomes overwhelming.

The militaries allowing this and the central banks colluding with them are by definition operating as criminal conspiracies, outside any form of law, in violation of the various Constitutions they are supposed to be honoring.

The Federal Reserve was always the creature of the U.S. Treasury so being “absorbed” into the Treasury just means that the Treasury has direct access to the assets of the Federal Reserve and isn't playing the pass through game anymore.

In slang language, the military finally fingered the Federal Reserve, which has been its willing bank partner since 1863. The Federal Reserve (long before the Federal Reserve Act of 1913) has been the central bank structure that winked and allowed the British Territorial “United States” to access credit belonging to The United States of America, our unincorporated Federation of States.

Was the Federal Reserve a criminal conspiracy? Certainly. Just don't forget that the U.S. Army was it's co-conspirator and that Lincoln, acting as a British Crown Officer, through his Treasury Secretary, Salmon Chase of Chase Bank fame, set up the con games and rackets that have been used by the banks to defraud the public and private sectors ever since.

For example, the Greenbacks Investment Scandal was parleyed and morphed into the Petro Dollar creating the same “you can only buy” (whatever commodity so fill in the blank) with this specific currency set up.

The new version of the old scheme simply invested its ill-gotten wealth in different commodities. By forcing people to pay for commodities in one specific currency, the monopoly interests involved could hijack the currency market — if the commodity was vital enough.

What started with swindling investors out of their gold in the 1800's transformed into a worldwide monopoly on a truly vital commodity — home heating oil and gasoline — in the 1900s.

This gave rise to an even greater commodity rigging scheme capturing the world currency markets.

As other countries had to pay for oil in Federal Reserve Notes, they had to buy Federal Reserve Notes first, using their own national currency. For example, France had to use Francs to buy Federal Reserve Notes before France could buy oil.

This meant that the purveyors of Federal Reserve Notes acquired vast holdings of all the National Currencies of the world, and were able to stockpile these “reserves” and use them to selectively promote or undermine any national economy on Earth. This vast manipulative power was then used abusively, to control the economies and political affairs of entire countries.

This was just one racket that the Federal Reserve was involved in, selected as an example of the monopolization schemes developed as a result of private ownership of currencies — first in the Greenbacks where investors had to trade their gold for paper “Greenbacks” to buy bonds, and later, the Petro Dollar, which forced everyone to buy Federal Reserve Notes to buy oil.

Left to themselves, the Perpetrators would soon be demanding that we buy Central Bank Digital Currencies in order to buy anything at all. Let that sink in. They are force-selling a product, their privately issued currency — which is a commodity like any other commodity — as a prerequisite to buy other commodities.

They have an automatic monopoly because they are the sole source supplier of the currency.

The IMF, another Central Bank, used its abusive power in Africa and throughout the Third World, while pretending to be there to help and nurture economic development. Instead, history demonstrates that the IMF used its power to implement a form of economic slavery instead of any actual benefit to mankind.

Now that the entire continent of Africa has made colonialism illegal, Brussels and Milan and Hamburg don't know what to do. Neither will the IMF have a clue.

Whether practiced on the land or at sea, the same evils are the same evils — monopoly, obstruction of trade, peonage, enslavement — all using the same tools: access to specific privately issued currencies and use of these privately issued currencies to manipulate access to commodities, charging people for the “privilege” of using these privately owned currencies, amassing huge “National” debts simply by not crediting the goods and services obtained in exchange for these currencies, and on and on.

It becomes self-evident that these evils — monopolies, obstruction of trade, peonage, and enslavement — are the products of central banks, and that the monopolies we have allowed them to control have simply spawned more monopolies — monopolies that have benefited them and their cronies at everyone else's expense.

It is also apparent that these currencies are simply nicely engraved images on special paper, having no actual, intrinsic value — and so-called “digital currencies” have even less substance than the paper chits that have been used to delude and defraud mankind.

Paper can “stand for” physical commodities, as a warehouse receipt, for example — but as we all recently observed, the existence of a warehouse receipt, even from the ComEx — does not guarantee the existence of the warehoused commodity it references.

We stand as witnesses to global financial crimes on a staggering scale, and despite the denouement, nothing seems to happen. The so-called “paper price” or “spot price” of silver remains at less than a hundred dollars per ounce, while the actual in-hand market price spikes to over $1000 per ounce.

Just like the men (and women, sadly) implicated in the Epstein files continue to walk around without being investigated, without being charged.

Representative Massie isn’t the only one outraged and stunned by the failure to prosecute these individuals — all of them.

Instead of rounding up the the bankers and securities brokers who “monetized” living flesh and enslaved everyone, instead of hunting down the Hollywood scum that exploited children and young women, instead of removing the politicians who willingly entered and profited from Epstein’s blackmail cult, instead of jailing Bill Gates and Anthony Fauci — Mr. Trump has deployed the full forces of the military, the National Guard, and a dozen “Federal Agencies” — to chase down illegal migrants.

The ironies are not lost on us. Let’s explain it to everyone else.

Trump has a contractual obligation to defend our borders and enforce the international Public Law pertaining to border enforcement known as the Immigration and Naturalization Laws.

Trump can point at a contractual obligation to chase down criminals involved in international (or in our case, interstate) bank or currency fraud, but the people responsible for this jurisdictional enforcement, the Federal Marshals, were long ago “defunded” by friends of the criminals in Congress. The rest of the police are largely funded by the same organizations committing the crimes, or lack jurisdiction to act.

Trump can’t point at any blanket contractual obligation to rein in Hollywood; even murder is largely a local and State Government issue. The Federales only get called into situations where the murder involved Federal personnel, occurs on Federally managed land, involves federally regulated substances, and so on. The only connection to Epstein lies in his nefarious spying and profiting from “trade secrets” of various governments. His diddling of little girls and boys and his hideous genetic experiments and prosecution of those associated with all this, doesn’t become a federal issue until you can prove that the victims were transported across State borders, and again, the people primarily responsible, the Federal Marshals, have been defunded for twenty years or more.

The federal corporations in the past have answered this problem (when it was hurting business for them) by enacting policies establishing “bounties” on the vermin and inviting Bounty Hunters from the appropriate land-based jurisdictions to go out and haul the criminals into federal custody.

Apparently, Mr. Trump didn’t watch the same black and white filmstrips we watched as kids in History classes. Or he doesn’t have the funds to offer bounties. Or the political muscle to force Congress to fund a new generation of Federal Marshals.

We won't ever say that failure to prosecute crime using jurisdictional excuses is ever "okay", especially when we ourselves face wrongful prosecution by the same federal authorities trespassing on us every day of the week.

What we will say is that ultimately, upholding the Public Law is the responsibility of the people of this country. It's up to us to organize ourselves and organize our State Assemblies and direct the activities and priorities of our public employees at every level, which is what we are currently doing to the best of our ability.

We have organized as volunteers what the "Federal Government" subcontractors refuse to pay for — a new Continental Marshals Service to fill in the blank left by Congressional defunding of the Federal Marshals. Our Continental Marshals have the ability to deputize volunteers from the American Public, just like the days of the Old West. We still hold the jurisdiction of the land and soil and our laws, though dusty, are still on the books.

If the panty-asses in London prefer lip-service to justice, we quite understand — they are the ones who promoted and profited from and allowed these crimes to fester, not only in this country but worldwide. What can you expect from "persons" who have stood by and watched an estimated 50,000 young British girls being trafficked, raped, and abused on the streets of their hometowns?

Get ready for the full power of the actual Public Law to be unleashed and don't wait for Pam Bondi or any of the statutory bullshit artists in DC to act. They aren't coming. They don't consider cleaning up their own mess to be part of their job description.

Notice to Principals is Notice to Agents. Notice to Agents is Notice to Principals.

We don't need permission to defend ourselves from murderers, rapists, baby-killers, kidnappers, pirates, smugglers, bank robbers, or cattle rustlers.

This is not a matter of politics. It is a matter of Public Law. If public employees have been misdirected by criminals and pretend that enforcement of the Public Law is not their problem or jurisdiction, it remains for the Public to undertake the enforcement of the Public Law.

Notice to Principals is Notice to Agents. Notice to Agents is Notice to Principals.

Let all members of the Law Enforcement community be fully informed of these circumstances and let every officer employed under the auspices of the United States, Inc. or the United States of America, Inc., their franchises and subsidiaries, be aware that their misadministration and lack of good faith has led to this dire circumstance.

The Continental Marshal Service is a volunteer peacekeeping force commissioned by The United States of America — Unincorporated, to provide peacekeeping services in the international jurisdiction of the land, to prevent and intercept interstate bank fraud, interstate kidnapping and human trafficking, interstate homicide, interstate counterfeiting, interstate smuggling of controlled substances, and other crimes of this nature.

Take Notice. We are Issuing commissions to our Continental Marshals and copies for reference will be forwarded to the United States Secretary of State. The people of this country are exercising their retained and unenumerated rights preserved under Article X of The Constitution of the United States of America and our inherent jurisdiction over the land and soil of this country.

Further Notice: the existence of Voter Registrations, like the existence of Birth Registrations, cannot be relied upon to establish any presumption of citizenship obligation on the part of individuals, because Voter Registration was solicited without disclosure and encouraged under color of law. Take Notice. Tell your superiors and subordinates.

We have paid billions upon billions of dollars to law enforcement retainers and federal agencies purporting to keep us safe and to provide security, only to find that the same persons and organizations have been preying upon our population using a maze of False Registrations and False Commercial claims to unjustly enrich themselves at our expense — in gross breach of trust and violation of their service contracts.

This is Notice to our employees and all corporations operating in The United States. This is Notice to the British Parliament and to King Charles III. This is Notice to Pope Leo XIV. This is Notice to the Mayor of the Inner City of London. This is Notice to all personnel and functionaries attached to the British Crown and their associates and employees worldwide.

We have paid these billions of dollars in good faith for the purposes assumed, and they have failed to deliver even in their own jurisdictions. They are in violation of their treaties and their service contracts. We are not.

Let the world witness the evils of commercialism and witness our claim to be the long-lost owners of every corporation operated by the United States Federal Republic and any Successors to contract 1787 to the present.

It is very convenient that the perpetrators use jurisdictional manipulation and false registrations to attack average Americans every day of every week, yet when it is time to prosecute their own citizenry, they plead jurisdictional restrictions.

This will not deter us from exercising our concurrent jurisdiction.

Notice to Principals is Notice to Agents. Notice to Agents is Notice to Principals.
