

War in the Air - Cruelty to People

The actual “war” is a war for your mind, for your attention, and for your belief; largely, it is a “war” for your mental and emotional energy.

In very practical ways, it is a struggle of the living people against corporations.

All corporations are legal fictions that don’t actually exist, but which have been promoted as ideas holding material interests: name brands, trademarks, patents, copyrights, contracts, trusts, franchises, republics, democracies, city-states, cooperatives, communes, cooperatives, foundations, LLCs, LLPs, partnerships, proprietorships, religions, associations, societies, clubs, fraternities, sororities, even nations and countries.

None of these things actually exist, but we suspend belief and pretend that they do.

Why?

Convenience, mainly. These mental constructs help us define and organize things. They give us business models, templates, and conceptual frameworks to build upon and yes, they bring “order out of chaos” by creating a separate and admittedly false reality known as “the world”.

The world and the Earth are two separate things, but nobody teaches you this in school, nor in churches or synagogues or temples. We have to observe this for ourselves.

The truth is that we are born as unique beings and the only group we truly belong to is our family.

All the rest of the cumbersome definitions are added, indeed, heaped on us, after the fact. We are given a name, a community, a nation, a country, a religion, a race, an ethno-cultural identity, a nationality, a citizenship, a provenance, a genealogy, a blood type, a hair color, eye color, weight, height, finger (or foot) print, a political party, a peer group, a social status, a credit rating, an economic and social class, a criminal record (or not) and now, the same persons who brought all this invasive analysis and programming to you want to further define you and destroy your privacy down to the level of your actual physical location, heartbeat, the status of your hormones, your thoughts, your preferences, your buying patterns, and your DNA — all constantly monitored by Big Brother.

Only about one-third of all people ever spontaneously realize that, hey, all this “stuff” has been pushed on me, and I never had a word to say about any of it.

The rest, two-thirds of humanity, never really recover from this onslaught of “identity factors” being shoved off onto them, and become dependent on their captors to tell them what to do and what to think, what to value, and what to ignore.

These people, our neighbors, family members, and friends are mentally and emotionally crippled, their sense of self so restricted, their ability to reason so under-developed, that they are dependent on what the television or social media or educational programming or facebook chats feed them.

They no longer have a “mind of their own” — literally.

Let us demonstrate.

We are told that forty million people will go hungry this November because they won't get food stamps. That is one in eight Americans with no “food security” as of today, November 1st, 2025.

Rationally, we should be very concerned and upset, that the Mongers in the U.S. Congress care more about selling bombs than feeding people — regardless of who these people are, where they come from, or what political parties they support.

Politics of any kind should not even enter into the discussion.

This should be a simple, stark national priority to feed everyone within the borders of this country, but instead of removing the obstacles in Congress — arresting them for crimes against humanity if necessary — a new and ugly narrative is being spun.

We are told that over eighty percent of food stamps go to “aliens” and that “59% of food stamp recipients are obese”.

A regular stampede of statistics appears in both Mainstream and Alternative news feeds, all designed to denigrate and separate food stamp recipients from the rest of the population, to blame them for being hungry, and to label them as “useless eaters”.

They don't tell you that from the standpoint of the elitists promoting these “statistics”, average working class and middle class Americans are “non-resident aliens”, because they don't live in the District of Columbia.

They don't tell you that the vast majority of food stamp recipients have been chronically unemployed or underemployed as a direct result of corporate profit-seeking devoid of any conscience.

They don't tell you how many American jobs have been lost, because the Perpetrators got the chance to up their corporate profits and exploit Chinese slave labor, harming both the Chinese and the Americans in the process.

They don't mention that many food stamp recipients are both obese and sick because the cheap food that they buy in an attempt to have enough to fill their bellies, is of low nutritional value, full of empty carbs, trans-fats, laboratory chemicals, pesticides, and sugar.

Without the right nutrients, their bodies are constantly hungry and sending hunger signals to the brain. Soon the poor are spending every penny and every food stamp on more cheap, polluted, high carbohydrate, high sugar, high fat content food.

They eat this garbage from dusk til dawn and gain a hundred or more pounds of extra fat and are still hungry. They are both obese and literally starving right in front of our stupid, ignorant, judgemental faces.

And neither they nor we are sharp enough to catch the drift: these extra would-be workers are being killed for profit, because when they get sick enough to go to the hospital, guess who is waiting for them there?

The same reckless corporate profiteers that deprived them of jobs, put them on welfare, and restricted the amount of food stamp money to force people to fill up on pasta and bread full of harmful additives —these same corporate criminals then profit from their illnesses and deaths.

Make no mistake, the “war” is between corporations and living people, between those who have a conscience, and those who do not, between those who put their faith in money, and those who put their faith in love.

It’s a fight between dead, fictional things— mindless, faceless, and unaccountable corporations — and living people.

The living people have to win this one.
